Five Years May Bring Gymnasium

Graduates' Society Committee Investigating Work From Every Angle

NO CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS IMMEDIATELY

Material Will Be Available Attempt Be Deemed Feasible

There is a strong possibility that the McGill gymnasium, which along with the campus statue has in recent years been a stock topic of undergraduate humor may be an actual building by the time that students now entering this university as freshmen have walked out of convocation as graduates.

Five years from today a group of buildings including a gymnasium, swimming pool, a large convocation hall which could be converted in 24 hours into a hockey rink, and an administration building to house various undergraduate activities, may front on Pine Avenue directly south of the Molson Stadium if plans projected by a committee of the Graduates Society reach their culmination.

Committee Formed
During the summer a committee was formed by the McGill Graduates Society to look into the question of a gymnasium from every angle. Headed by H. M. Jaquays, President of the Society the committee has already made definite progress in their work of investigation. Recently, approval by the Council of a grant of land to the university, which would complete the amount of ground needed for the plan proposed has given the committee definite assurance that a suitable location for the planned buildings was assured.

Although, as stated, it is highly probable that the erection of the gym within the next five years will take place, it is only fair to point out that this move involves as yet no campaign for funds. Expenses of the investigation are being financed by a small disbursement from the Graduates Endowment Fund, but it is unlikely that an active campaign for funds for the gymnasium will take place before conditions are deemed suitable, which may not be for another two years.

In connection with the building itself, as soon as the preliminary groundwork has been thoroughly covered by the committee, which should be in some months time, a competition among McGill graduate architects will be held for the best design for the proposed buildings. No definite plans in this direction however have as yet been made.

Long-Distance Objective
Mr. O. R. Glasco, secretary of the Graduates Society when interviewed yesterday afternoon, pointed out that it is definitely a long-distance objective, which the Graduates Society have set themselves, but remarked, "I think that if conditions improve within the next two years as they should, five Continued on Page 3

Newcomers Invited To Choral Society

Hold Meeting Tuesday To Discuss Season's Plans

An early start in the season's activities will be made this year by the McGill Operatic and Choral Society when they hold their first meeting of the year in the Union Ballroom next Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m. The early start is necessitated by the fact that this year's production, "The Yeomen of the Guard" is being put on during the last two days of November and the first three of December, instead of in the spring as in the past.

Though the rehearsals for this production commenced last year and are already well advanced, newcomers are welcome as the men's chorus is in need of some more members, and the women's also, though to a lesser degree.

An orchestra is being formed under the guidance of Bob Shaw and Jules Lapointe, and they will commence rehearsals in the near future as the executive already have the orchestrations at hand.

The executive anticipate a full turn-out of old members, and cordially invite newcomers, especially freshmen and freshettes to attend, meet the members and get an idea of the aims and plans of the society. It is emphasized that no previous training in singing is necessary.

Elections For Two Representatives To Council To Be Held

Arts and Engineering Now Not Represented On Executive Board

"A" AWARDS MADE

Contest for McGill Marching Song To Be Opened Shortly

Elections for the posts of Arts and Engineering representatives to the Students' Executive Council, and for President of the Debating Union will be held on October 12, it was announced last evening at a meeting of the Council. Nominations for these positions must be in by October 4.

These three elections are made necessary by the removal of Ronald Denton, former Arts representative, to the Faculty of Medicine; by the election of Deane Nesbitt, former Engineering representative, to the position of President of the Students' Society; and by the departure of Kenneth Baker, President-elect of the Debating Union, to Europe.

Plan Song Contest
Students and graduates of McGill will shortly be invited to participate in a McGill March Song Contest, the Council decided. Contestants will be allowed to submit words and music, or words alone; and a prize will be awarded.

Unanimous decision was made to give Grade "A" awards to A. Edmonson, immediate past President of the Students' Society; to G. King, and A. Marshall, respectively Union President and Editor-in-Chief of the McGill Daily during the past session; and to Doreen Harvey-Jellie, last year's President of the McGill University Women's Union.

McGill Cadets Open New Officers Mess.

C. O. T. C. Plans Active Season in New Quarters

A new era in the history of the McGill C.O.T.C. commenced this summer when the long-projected mess began active functioning. During the summer months the mess was only open one night a week but it is the intention of those in charge to have it open every night during the coming season.

In planning the mess an effort has been made to approximate as closely as possible the conditions which exist in permanent force officer's messes, although necessary differences, due to the different character of the McGill corps have been incorporated in the general plan. A series of rules governing the conduct and management of the mess have been drawn up and will be submitted to the corps for general improvement.

The mess is located in the Physical Education building where a large room has been turned over to the cadets. The room has been decorated and furnished through the interest of Lieut. Col. Buchanan and other friends of the corps and a number of periodicals and books of a pertinent nature have been acquired.

The C.O.T.C. officially opened its season last Sunday when they joined with other local troops in a large tactical exercise. The McGill squad was accorded a signal honor in being included with permanent troops against the non-permanents. A successful rearward action was fought by the former.

DAILY NEEDS NEW REPORTERS ON STAFF

Positions on the reporting staff of the McGill Daily are now open to all men and women undergraduates of the University. Applicants should see the News Editor, Ernest Crown, in the Daily office, which is situated in the basement of the McGill Union, 690 Sherbrooke St., between the hours of one and five o'clock today.

There are about 50 vacancies on the staff for news and sports reporters. Newcomers will be instructed in their duties, and given a registration form and handbook. First year students are especially welcomed. Former reporters who wish to continue with the Daily are urged to register as soon as possible so they may be assigned to their nights.

The Daily offers excellent experience in elementary newspaper work to those interested in journalism. Each man and woman is assigned to work on one day of his or her own choice each week. Duties are arranged so as not to interfere with studies.

THE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To the Editor,
MCGILL DAILY.

Once more you have given me the valued privilege of saying a word of welcome to the students of McGill University. For more than a century, principals of this University have welcomed successive bodies of students. I yield to none in the sincerity of my welcome. There are no reservations. It is whole-hearted and all-embracing. It includes the freshman and the junior, the sophomore and the senior, and the graduate student, too. I hope the association begun or renewed at this time will prove a happy experience for all and that the session so hopefully inaugurated will bring to each of us the full fruition of our dreams and aspirations.

Much will depend on how we begin. There are here riches untold for all who diligently seek, but they cannot be won without effort; and the greater the effort, the greater will be our recompense. Let us resolve to live each day so that at its close there shall be no regrets for time wasted, for opportunities neglected, for duties left undone. Our happiness and our success will much depend on how we order our daily life. There is time for work and time for recreation, but days foolishly and aimlessly spent can never be retrieved. We must remember always that the reputation and the traditions of this old and proud University are ours to cherish and maintain.

A. W. Currie.

Note To Editors

There will be an important meeting of all associate editors of the McGill Daily this afternoon at five o'clock in the office. Every associate editor, of both the news and sports departments, is required to be present.

Band Opens Schedule For Season At Western Game

On Saturday, October 8, when Western meets McGill here in the opening Inter-collegiate rugby game, the McGill University band will begin its season's schedule of activities. All newcomers to the university who can play wind instruments are asked by the Bandmaster to meet him in the Union this afternoon at five.

Depression College Founded By State Leaders In Virginia

WASHINGTON. (I.P.)— Announcement was made here last week that early in October a "depression university" will be opened not far from here in the hills of Virginia—a university at which the faculty will teach for its board and room only.

The university, it was said, plans to have about 100 students, who will pay a fee of $250 each, covering all expenses for the year.

There will be no football team at Depression University, but anyone wishing to win his "D" can do so in fishing.

Hunting, too, may be a major sport, with the idea that after a hard day on the athletic field, the students can bring home their dinners.

The university is to be the result of a plan evolved by Dr. A. C. Hill, Jr., professor of economics at Springfield College.

The main idea, it seems, will be to make use of some unemployed faculty members who might otherwise be wasted.

Saturday Issue Of Daily Is Suspended Temporarily
The Managing Board of the McGill Daily wishes to draw attention to the fact that no issue of the Daily will appear on Saturdays until further notice.

This temporary suspension of one issue per week is made necessary by financial conditions.

New Caterer Takes Over Management Of Union Cafeteria

Meal Tickets and Service Dinner Among New Features Projected

BUILDING IMPROVED

Changes Provide Better Accommodation For Annual And Book Exchange

A new management for the cafeteria, some structural alterations and a good deal of redecoration are among the improvements which have taken place in the Union during the summer months. An active year is forecast by the executive, who plan, among other things, a number of informals and jazz teas.

The cafeteria, after three years under the management of Cordner's Ltd., has been handed over to Mr. Ahnert who has made a name for himself as caterer to the M.A.A.A. as well as to several other clubs and small bodies. Already the new manager has proposed a number of improvements which he intends to carry out.

Meal Tickets

Chief among these will be the sale of meal tickets, the purchase of which will effect a ten per cent saving in the cost of meals purchased. This will only apply to students who eat all three meals at the cafeteria as an equal number of breakfasts, lunches and dinners will have to be purchased under the terms of the ticket. Ordinary meals will sell at the price of 30 cents for breakfast, 35 cents for lunch and 40 cents for dinner. Dinner will be made a service meal in place of the old cafeteria system although it has been found impossible to extend this service to the other meals.

Considerable changes have been effected in the basement during the summer under the direction of Bert Yates. The book-exchange will be found in its old place in the Annual Room while the annual has moved across the hall. A new passage has been cut into the Daily editorial offices from the passage.

Stairs Repainted

Apart from this the stairs have been repainted throughout and some of the walls and ceilings have been treated in a like manner. The landing on the second floor and the floors of the billiard rooms have been re-varnished as well as the floors in the basement.

With the definite prospect of a college orchestra being formed, the Union executive is planning a number of social activities. The number of the ever-popular informal dances will be increased and it is also expected that jazz teas will be revived.

Music Given New Rank

As a further step in the reorganization of the conservatory of music at Rollins College, members of the conservatory faculty have been appointed to titles of academic rank for the first time in the history of the department.

Change Navy Curriculum

A change in the curriculum of the United States Naval Academy has been made to allow the inclusion of more cultural subjects. It was found that the curriculum was too technical.

Wellesley Co-eds Disturb Cop's Plan Of Traffic Control

Wellesley, Mass. — Patrolman William Mullen, who guides the destinies of traffic entering Wellesley square from five streets, had a pain in the neck from trying to watch all roads, so he developed the brilliant idea of hanging a mirror above his traffic box to watch traffic behind him.

When students of Wellesley College returned for classes, however, they had other ideas, and used the mirror to powder their noses. A sergeant saw Mullen at his post of duty surrounded by girls busy primping.

"What's the big idea, are you running a harem?" demanded the sergeant.

Today Patrolman Mullen was busy directing traffic, twisting his head to watch five roads.

Two Resignations In Players' Executive

Pat Beatts And Bill Shelley Give Up Position In Club

MEET NEXT WEEK

"Hassan", Persian Mystic Play May Be This Year's Choice

Two unexpected vacancies in the executive of the Players' Club filled at the first meeting of the Club to be held in the Club-room in the Union early next week, where the newcomers to McGill, as well as those of the older members of the University who are interested, will be given an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the objects of the Club.

The positions of Secretary, to which Bill Shelly was elected last spring, and of Chairman of the Workshop, originally held by P. M. Beatts, are now open to election. Bill Shelly has been forced to sever his connection with the Club as he is taking up his studies this year at the University of British Columbia, while P. Beatts has tendered his resignation on account of the pressure of studies.

To Discuss Program

In addition to this business, the meeting will discuss the program of the Club for the coming year, and the selection of the first play. The Executive of the Club have been busy during the summer as a reading committee, and a large number of plays have been considered with a view to selection; while the final choice is not yet made, they have in mind their first venture, a play by J. M. Elroy Flecker, "Hassan."

This play, though already a few years old, fulfills the policy of the Players' Club to present only the really modern in Drama, as it has not yet been produced in Canada, though it was a great success in its two London presentations, and also when it was given in 1931 by the Oxford University Dramatic Society.

This first meeting of the club will be a preliminary to the intensive period of casting, try-outs and other activities which must precede the production of any play, and the Executive of the Club, headed by the President, Fraser Macquodale, are anxious to make as early a start as possible for the first production in November. In consequence all members of the Club as well as all others interested are urged to put in an appearance at the first meeting, a further announcement of which will appear in the Daily.

Good Year For McGill Sports Seen

Sports Editor Predicts Six Intercollegiate Championships Will Come Here

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS SEEM OPTIMISTIC

Track Squad Also Shows Signs of Coming Out On Top

BY THE SPORTS EDITOR

A gaze into the crystal as to the prospects of a good McGill year in intercollegiate sport for the season 1932-1933, seems to reveal the fact that competition will be keen in all fields of athletic endeavor. Judging by last year's performances, and taking into account the weakening of university teams through graduation, McGill and Varsity should just about break even in the race for titles.

This is, as things look now, McGill's year in football. Frank Shaughnessy has welded together a powerful football machine that should end up at the top of the heap. The struggle for the football laurels will probably be this season between McGill and Varsity. Queen's is now nothing more than a shadow of its former self. About nine of the Tricolour's best men graduated last year. Western's strongest point has always been its stonewall front rank, and now that team has one of the most formidable lines in years, Western, as a threat, is practically eliminated. The Mustangs have also suffered from graduation.

Steven's Influence

The forward pass, since its insertion in the Canadian Code last year, has become the most potential threat in the game. The fact that Warren Stevens has undertaken to teach the ontarians the forward fling cannot be ignored. Varsity has turned out more championship football teams than any other college in the loop, and the Blueboys' ignominious defeat last year, when they made one of the poorest showings since 1898, will see them this season out for gore with a vengeance. That, however, will only make the struggle between the Red and Blue more interesting.

The intercollegiate track crown should also remain here. Hutchins, captain of the team, and winner of the high and low hurdles last season, is back. Charlie Drew, triple threat and veteran cinder star has also returned. Phil Edwards, who won the mile and 440 will also be defending his laurels. Gerry Sampson, who broke the half-mile record, may be back. Jeff Goode will again wear a red uniform in defence of his three-mile crown.

In addition to all these stars, most of last year's men will return to the fold, but the most cheering news of all is that Clarrie Frankton will be Continued on Page 6

Book Exchange Now Open For Business

Will Operate For Two Weeks This Term

The McGill Book Exchange, operated in the past four or five years for the benefit of the students, opens today, for the sale of books required during the first term of college. As in the past the exchange office is situated in the basement of the McGill Union.

Students both old and new are reminded that the book exchange is operated solely for their benefit, and that it should be patronized accordingly. The Exchange will be open for the coming two weeks. Today it will open at two o'clock and close at five. Week-days it will be open from ten to one, and from two to five. On Saturdays it will close at one.

For the benefit of those unacquainted with the dealings of the Book Exchange the following advice is given. Books to be sold, should be handed in at the office in the Union, where a price tag is given the owner on which to write down the price he wants for the book. This is then attached to the book and the owner given a receipt.

When the entire business of the Exchange is concluded cash is paid to those whose books have been sold. A small amount to cover the cost of operation will be retained by the Exchange.

STUDYING IN ENGLAND

Robert Picard

David Lewis

Munroe Bourne

Among the prominent graduates of this university who have obtained scholarships for study abroad are Munroe Bourne, Dave Lewis and Robert Picard who are doing postgraduate work this year in English Universities. Bourne and Lewis are now at Oxford on Rhodes Scholarships working in physiology and law, respectively while Picard is doing postgraduate work in economics at the London School on an I.O.D.E. fellowship.

All three distinguished themselves in extra-curricular as well as scholastic activities at McGill. Bourne is a swimmer of no mean ability, Lewis in the debating field, while Picard was last year News Editor of the McGill Daily.

Montreal, Thursday, Sept. 29, 1932.

Welcome!

ONCE AGAIN the autumn has brought a chill to the air and effusive handshakes to the campus; once again we welcome to McGill her sons and daughters, both new and old. A new season is beginning, that by some is regarded with uncertainty, and perhaps some sinking feeling in the stomach, by some with enjoyment, and by others, unfortunately, with feelings of resignation and imminent boredom.

Surely there is no reason to assume that this year will be one of dullness and routine, marked by nothing more original than an increased lack of coin. Of course, we do not need to venture into the realms of prophecy to say that money will be scarce. It will be. Jobs were few and fees are higher. But when youth becomes miserable just because it is broke it has lost one of the main characteristics of youthfulness.

Social life will continue in defiance of the heavy clouds of insolvency; not so luxuriously as when our big brothers skipped lectures, but none the less enjoyably. Student activities will continue with—hope—smaller expense sheets, but with just as much interest and zest. And studies, which we really came here for anyway, need not be adversely affected by poverty. All the things that make college worth-while—the work and the play—will continue.

Yet there are ways by which this coming year can be made; not only as good as those gone by, but better. We can be more enthusiastic, and have less of that self-contained conceit which sometimes peddles itself under the name of sophistication. We can shout less about "college spirit" and do a little more work to help college affairs along. And lastly, reluctant as the writer is to approximate sermonizing, we can strive less to be conspicuous and more to co-operate.

We can well rejoice that throughout these lean years McGill has maintained her high standard and repute. The authorities have been faced with no easy task, and yet the university which our freshmen have entered today is still one whose very name can incite respect in the fields of sport and in the halls of learning. Those who guide its destiny are guiding it well. Though fees may be high, he who can scrape enough together will get his money's worth.

We do not wish the strangers within our gates to be overwhelmed and awed by the prospect before them. They will rapidly come to feel at home, though their presence will scarcely be noticed—not even by hazing. Yet when strangeness gives way to familiarity let them never forget that they are members of a great University, and may bear a part in the maintenance of that greatness.

Thus we welcome them all, not with the rah-rah-rah of collegiate ostentation, nor the flapping of cute little flags and bell-bottomed pants, but with a quiet hope that the freshmen will soon become part of the organic organization that is McGill. We do not parade our good-will, nor force it on others, but those who ask for help and advice upon college affairs will readily obtain it. Knock, and the door of student accomplishment will be opened unto you.

Consider The Daily

TO THOSE newcomers who are casting wary eyes hither and thither prior to offering themselves to any campus activity, to those newcomers who do not know that campus activities exist, we address these words: The McGill Daily is a student newspaper. It is run by students for the students, and the students themselves pay for it.

All men and women at McGill, from senior to freshman, are eligible to become staff members of this paper, which is the oldest college daily in Canada. There is no age, sex, or colour bar. The backbone of the Daily is its reporters, who receive experience in journalism and the variety of college life without interference with their

You need not be an artist with words to enter into the fascinating world of college journalism. Yet work of literary merit is always welcomed by the Feature Department. Apropos of this, may we pass on to you the remarkable discovery made long ago—that the best training in writing is to write. Page Two awaits your short stories and your poems, your fantasies and belles lettres—and the News Editor awaits all would-be gentlemen of the press this very afternoon.

Plans For Building Reach Final Stage

Rockefeller Foundation Endows Institute Of Neurology

PENFIELD IS CHIEF

Construction Expected To Be Under Way Before Winter

Announced by Sir Arthur Currie at a special meeting of the Board of Governors on April 19th, 1932, the plans for the establishment of a Neurological Institute at McGill are now definitely under way. The plans have been drawn up by the architects, and construction is expected to be under way before winter.

This is as a result of the decision of the Rockefeller Institute, in offering McGill $1,232,652, to select Dr. Penfield as the outstanding leader to direct the Institute and McGill University and Montreal as the correct location.

McGill Signalled
In a year of great depression, the Rockefeller Foundation, which interests itself in medical affairs throughout the world, has signalled McGill by giving it the only grant of any magnitude which it intends to offer this year.

The Institute will provide facilities which will enhance the reputation and usefulness, not only of McGill, but of all the Medical Institutions and hospitals in the city of Montreal. Instead of going abroad for treatment, Canadian people will be able to remain in Montreal. Also patients and students are expected to be attracted from throughout the United States and the rest of the world.

Will Be Unsurpassed
The authorities state that the Neurological Institute will not be surpassed anywhere in the world and that it will be of untold use for the care of the most delicate and most misunderstood of all afflictions.

Neurology entails the management and treatment of all forms of diseases of the nervous system. This includes injuries to the head and neck, injuries to the skull, etc., diseases of the brain, diseases of the spinal cord, the peripheral and sympathetic nervous systems throughout the body.

Development Recent
Until recently, when two specialists, Dr. Colin Russell of the Royal Victoria, and Dr. F. H. MacKay of the Montreal General were appointed clinical professors, little had been done in the study of neurology. Five years ago Dr. E. W. Archibald, Professor of Surgery undertook to form a Department and through his efforts Dr. Wilder Penfield, one of the leading neurological specialists of America, was brought to McGill.

The profession in Montreal soon recognized the presence of an outstanding man in the field and witnessed an outstanding change in the character of the work to all concerned. Through the aid of friends of the University the services of Dr. W. V. Cone were procured as assistant to Dr. Penfield for five years. Headed by Dr. Penfield there are now seven experts in the Department while there are nine doctors doing full time research in the Department laboratories.

The growth of operative work is indicated by the fact that during the first year of Dr. Penfield's association with the University he had performed 50, and last year nearly 350, operations. At the Royal Victoria Hospital the operations for diseases of the nervous system stand third on the list. Also the mortality from such operations.

Describe Confucius As Universal Force

Dr. Kiang Kang-hu Outlined Life of Chinese Sage

TRAVELLED WIDELY

All Schools of Oriental Philosophy Influenced by His Teachings

Commemorating the birth of Confucius, Dr. Kiang Kang-hu, on Tuesday afternoon last, declared China's great sage to be an influential force not only among people of his own race but all humanity.

Before a large gathering assembled in the Arts Building, Prof. Kiang first outlined the story of Confucius' life. "Born during a turbulent period in the Chou dynasty," stated the speaker, "the great Chinese teacher came of noble parentage. After studying in the State of Lu, his native district, the boy travelled for some time along the Yellow River district. At the age of twenty-one he returned to Lu and served for a period as a clerk."

Became Acting-Premier
"Later," continued the professor, "Confucius, known to the Chinese as K'ung Ch'iu K'ung Fu-tzu, or K'ung the teacher, became first a minister of cabinet, then minister of justice, and eventually acting-premier. This office, however, Confucius held for only three months, after which he abandoned official service and travelled and taught with his disciples. K'ung died in the year 478 B. C., at the age of seventy-three."

Expressing "what Confucius is not," Dr. Kiang stated that it is wrong to classify Confucius with Jesus, Buddha and others. He is not a God, or representative of God, although a small school considered him divine.

Aimed To Inspire
"He was not a King in the broad sense," said the professor. Confucius did not try to rule, govern or conquer; he always aimed to inspire. Nor did he found a religion. He simply edited and compiled classics.
"As a teacher he is considered one of the best in the world. No schools of Chinese philosophy can escape the influence of his teachings. Yet he did not create a school, but perpetuated ideas that preceded his time."

erations is today only five per cent, when fifteen years ago the mortality for brain tumour removals alone was ninety per cent.

Above all projects, the Rockefeller Foundation desired this year to make a valuable contribution to the science of Neurology and Neurosurgery. With that end in view they proposed to found somewhere a modern neurological institute, perfectly equipped, adequately staffed, with the best available personnel. They wanted the most skillful surgeon on the continent to be its leader and director.

Sought Ideal Place
They also were desirous of finding the right university, hospital facilities, and a location in which they had confidence and which carried on the assurance of a constructive policy, free to develop along the most progressive and intelligent paths.

After long and well considered deliberation the Foundation selected Dr. Penfield as the outstanding leader and McGill University as the location, provided that Dr. Penfield would remain in Montreal.

Russian Students Ask About Life In Canada

Forsey Returns From Visit To Soviet Republic This Summer — Favourably Impressed By Conditions Existing There — People Confident Of Success

The interests of the average university student in Russia are very much different from those of their American and Canadian colleagues, states Mr. Eugene Forsey, of the Department of Economics, who spent some time this summer in the Soviet Republic. The students there were puzzled by the indifference of the average college man here to politics, and they were extremely interested in the views which people here hold about the U.S.S.R.

The students in the University Institutes, Mr. Forsey found, were interested in life in America. They asked about education here, its relation to religion, who controls it, etc. They are, as are all the young people, enthusiastic about the future of Russia, and are confident that the Five Year Plan will be a success.

Although the general standard of living is according to our ideas, still rather low, the people are not only contented, but they are confident that their condition will improve rapidly. Housing conditions, which are, even at the best, somewhat inadequate, are much better than they were several years ago. New houses are being put up to take care of the rapidly-growing city and town populations. These, of course, are equipped with modern conveniences, and although the people are still a little crowded, they are much better off than before. Though there was food scarcity in some regions, there was remarkably little sign of undernourishment.

Children Are Clean
"The children," stated Mr. Forsey, "are a brilliant contrast to those of the working class of England. The difference is like that between day and night." They are all extremely well looked after, clean, and are a very bright lot.

They are taken care of during the day by communal agencies, at the parks, or in the creches, and kindergartens at the factories. They start school at about seven or eight, and attend the Middle School for seven years. After this they can enter the Technical Schools, where they are trained for two years, as semi-skilled technicians. Those who do well can attend the University Institutes.

Equality For Women
There are Institutes for Economics, Foreign Languages, Engineering, etc., which are attended by women as well as men. Women hold the same positions as men—bus-drivers, conductors, engineers, etc.

There are in addition to these, Workers Faculties, attended by adults who have not had an elementary education, and who cover in three years, the work done by the children in seven. In Moscow alone, Mr. Forsey stated, there are over 150,000 adult students, who are paid by the government while studying. They spend six months at theory, and four at practical work every year. Those studying mining, work in the mines, those studying trades, work at their trades. The other two months they have as holidays, or they can volunteer to work somewhere else, where help may be needed.

Army Spreads Education
Students spend a good deal of their time "liquidating illiteracy" at the factories, etc., Mr. Forsey said, and they are very proud of the work they have done in this respect. Another educational factor is the Red Army, where the soldiers are educated generally and also are taught cleanliness and health. The latter return to their native villages, there to spread the knowledge they have gained.

On his way home, Mr. Forsey also ask, therefore, your authority to accept with gratitude the offer from the Foundation, and all other bodies and individuals who have already contributed or who may contribute to the establishment of this Institute. Through the help coming from outside sources the Institute can be established without any encroachment on the resources of the University.

Bursar Announces Change In Staff

Professors Porteous And Willey Resign In Faculty Of Arts

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Dr. T. W. M. Cameron Chosen Head Of Parasitology Institute

There is the usual number of changes in the staff of McGill this year according to the list of appointments, promotions and resignations released by the Bursar's Office. Chief among the resignations from the point of view of Arts students at least is that of Dr. Arthur Willey, Chairman of the Zoology Department and that of Professor A. J. D. Chicken Dinner Follows Fights

Ottawa, Kans. — (IP) — The annual class scrap between the freshmen and sophomores at Ottawa University is nothing out of the ordinary, but its preliminaries are quite unique.
It seems the entire school is the guest of the freshmen class at a fried chicken dinner after the fight, regardless of who wins. Before the fight the frosh get the chicken and fry it, then put it in hiding.

If the sophomores can find it and get it away from the frosh, the frosh have to stand by and look hungry while the rest of the school fills up on fried fowl.

If the sophomores don't steal the chicks, the freshmen get in on the "feed".

The custom originated back in 1904.

Fakers Sell West Point Scholarships

Mauch Chunk, Pa. (I.P.) — Two men from New York City were arrested here this month and accused of selling fake scholarships to West Point, the United States Military Academy.

According to officials who made the arrest the two had passed as agents of the War Department and had secured "fees" from wealthy citizens who wished to send their sons to West Point.

One citizen, whose name was not revealed, was said to have given the men $5,000, and another $300.

Ban Threatened On Dances For Students

Clinton, N.C. — (IP) — The 225 students of Presbyterian College here, who left the campus in June rejoicing in the decision of the board of trustees of the institution lifting the ban on dancing on the campus, are eagerly awaiting the boards reaction to the recommendation of the Presbyterian synod of South Carolina that the restriction be again placed on the students.

Many Man. Students Apply At Western

London, Ont., Sept. 28. — The plight of the University of Manitoba resulting from the defalcations of the former bursar John Machray who is now imprisoned, has resulted in many applications from Manitoba students for entrance into the University of Western Ontario, here.
Because of the already over-crowded conditions at Western, however, it has been necessary to refuse admission to most of these applicants. The higher fees at the University of Manitoba made necessary by the financial losses incurred make it actually cheaper, it is said, for Manitoba students to attend Western.

INTERMEDIATE AND FROSH GRID STARS SEEK NEW LAURELS

Seconds Commence Q.R.F.U. Schedule On Wednesday, October 12th

MCGILL footballers will seek laurels in a new field this year for the "second team" has been entered in the Montreal Intermediate Division of the Quebec Rugby Football Union. The Freshman team will carry the Red colours into the Intermediate Intercollegiate League. No definite team has been chosen as yet to compete in the Q.R.F.U. as it will be composed of the pick of those men who are not carried on the senior team.

The first game of the Intermediate schedule will not be played until Oct. 12th and as the first Intercollegiate game will be played on the 8th the personnel of the team will likely be chosen after that game. The Q.R.F.U. team will be coached by George McTeer, who has been assisting Coach Shaughnessy this year, and Dunc Anderson, freshman coach last year. The chosen team will be in the pink of condition as all the boys are trying their hardest to make the first string.

Frosh Look Strong. The Freshman team will be one of the best in years. With work in the various faculties getting under way, new faces are turning up at the Stadium every day. Herb Westman will undoubtedly look after the kicking duties, being one of the best kickers to turn up at the Stadium in many a day. Another freshman who shows considerable promise is Willie Woo. Woo starred with Montreal High and Westward Juniors last year. He was calling the plays from quarterback position last night in practice.

Herb Murphy, another old Red colour bearer, will guide the destinies of the freshmen. He was showing the boys some of the fundamentals last night but feels certain that there are many more good freshman footballers registered this year, and would like to see them turn out as soon as possible.

All the McGill home games in the Q.R.F.U. will be played under lights on Wednesday evenings at the Stadium. The following is the official schedule, with the referees and umpires who will handle the games:

Oct. 12, Wed. 8:15 p.m.—Westward at McGill, "Bill" Consiglio, referee and "Pean" Bennett, umpire.

Oct. 15—McGill at Ottawa, "Billy" Munslow, referee, and Joe Miller, umpire.

Oct. 19, Wed. 8:15 p.m.—C.N.R.A. at McGill, "Billy" Munslow, referee, and "Pean" Bennett, umpire.

Oct. 22—McGill at C.N.R.A., "Bill" Consiglio, referee, and "Billy" Munslow, umpire.

Nov. 2, Wed. 8:15 p.m.—Ottawa at McGill, Joe Miller, referee and "Bill" Consiglio, umpire.

Nov. 12—McGill at Westward, "Billy" Munslow, referee and "Bill" Consiglio, umpire.

SPORTS NOTICES

Notices must be typewritten and left in the Sports Editor's basket before eight o'clock on the night previous to publication.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION The Physical Director for women will meet all first year women students and others entering for the first time, on Monday, October 3rd, at 4 p.m., in Room 105 of the Royal Victoria College.

VACCINATION First year women students must produce vaccination certificates at the time of their health examination.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS All students must be medically examined before taking part in any sports.

INTERFACULTY FOOTBALL Managers of the interfaculty teams are asked to get in touch immediately with Alec Duff by calling Walnut 6834, or Carl Jodick, Walnut 4614.

ENGLISH RUGBY Will all those men who played English Rugby last year turn out for practice on the Lower Campus at 5 p.m. today? New men are welcome and will be given a trial.

W.M.S.A.A. TENNIS TOURNAMENT Entry lists are now posted in the Arts Building and the R.V.C. for the annual tennis tournament conducted by the McGill Women Students' Athletic Association. Students who wish to enter must do so at once, as the list will come down on Saturday, October 1st, and the draw will be made on the same day.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION Women students are reminded that all outdoor classes in Physical Education begin on Monday, October 3rd.

Senior Football Squad Starts Season Off On Right Foot

Redmen Trounce Westward Intermediates By One-Sided 22-4 Score

FIVE thousand football fans made their way to the Molson Stadium last Saturday to get a first look at the 1932 edition of McGill's senior football team and five thousand fans came away satisfied that the Red team will go far in the battle for the Intercollegiate crown. Coach Frank Shaughnessy's men, dispelled any doubt regarding their ability and handed Coach Kerr's Westwards a handy 22-4 defeat. It was an auspicious debut and seems to point to better things to come.

The Redmen went to work with a will and before the teams had changed ends the score stood 15-3 in their favour. A field goal and two converted touchdowns were responsible for McGill's score and Westward's only response was a safety touch and rouge. The Maroon-clad boys held the Redmen to two rouges in the second and third quarters but the Red line got working again in the fourth and Johnnie Riddell went through centre for McGill's third and final touch.

Strongest Line In Years Two things stand out as a result of the victory: First, the line is one of the best seen in a red uniform for many a day; second, the newcomers more than make up for the loss by graduation of last year's veterans. It was a stonewall defence that the Redmen set up in front of the Westward boys, a defence that broke up many a play before it got underway and caused the opposition to make many a costly fumble.

Of the new men on the squad Gilbert, Lee and Craig deserve special mention; nor can the work of Herb Westman, freshman from West Hill High, be overlooked. Gilbert alternated with Krukowski at quarterback and while he lacks Krukowski's experience in the Canadian game, yet he showed himself a capable field general and was responsible for four of the seven completed forwards.

Lee Surprises Lee stood out as the best drop-kicker on the squad and his toe was responsible for five points in the first quarter when he sent over a beautiful field goal and converted both touches. He also showed himself as adept at gathering in forwards as receiving passes, on the basketball floor.

Craig and Westman shared most of the kicking duties. Westman, being a freshman, is ineligible for intercollegiate competition so the burden will likely fall on Craig. Shaughnessy has been spending considerable time on the latter and he showed possibilities of being able to fill the breach, which right now looks like the only great weakness on the squad.

Don Young turned in one of his usual, good games—showing the old ability of being able to cash in on the opponents' errors. His tackling was as deadly as ever and he showed that he still has the knack of snaring forwards.

Freeman Snaps Freeman was back at his old position as snap and looked after that department of the game in handy style. Al Krukowski shared in the forward-tossing with Gilbert and sneaked through centre for the occasional yard.

The whole team came through the game without an injury although the Westward squad was not as lucky. Fred Tucker suffered a severe spinal injury and it looks as though he will be lost to the West-end club for the year. Galbraith, Epstein and Magan were the pick of the Maroon men. "Bunny" Talpis lined up at half against his old mates but the Redmen saw to it that he got away for none of his downfield dashes.

The Westward boys were superior in only one branch of the game—kicking, but the Red team made up for it by superior line work and forward passing. Altogether it looks

Eligibility Forms

Before competing for a place on any University team, a student must give to the manager a completed intercollegiate eligibility form. This form must be turned into the athletic manager's office at least six days prior to any intercollegiate contest in which the student takes part. Only those who stand a fair chance of making an intercollegiate team are asked to comply with this regulation. There is a fine of $5.00 for every form turned in late.

The Athletic Office stresses the fact that the coach and the manager are jointly responsible for the strict observance of this regulation. Managers would greatly facilitate matters by arranging the forms in alphabetical order.

Points to remember in filling out eligibility forms this year: this is the session of 1932-1933, not 1931-1932; all forms must state whether the student was here last year or not; the date must be written at the top; care should be taken to avoid mistakes in the year, that is, writing Med 4 instead of Med 5; forms made out in 1931 may not be produced again.

Stellar Half Will Have Big Burden

CARVEL HAMMOND, fleet and rugged, will be called upon to do more than his share in McGill's quest for the intercollegiate crown this season.

POLOISTS PLAN TO INAUGURATE EARLY PRACTICES MONDAY

George Vickerson Replaces Hal Fisk As Coach

BOTH the senior and junior water polo players are scheduled to start work next Monday when the first practice of the season will be held at 5:30 p.m., in the Knights of Columbus tank on Mountain St. The first game for the Herschorn Trophy and the City League Championship will be played against Y.M.H.A. seniors on the 19th of October. The junior schedule gets under way on the same night with the Red juniors meeting the Y.M.H.A. seconds.

Graduation has played havoc with the ranks of the senior team. Munroe Bourne has gone to Oxford and his sterling work at centre will be sadly missed; Bourne was also one of the leading scorers for the Redmen last year. Another of the veterans who will be missed is Phil Matthews, one of the best defencemen in the league, and also holder of a record for clean play that will be hard to beat. Fayton, who was elected captain of this year's squad will not be back at college this fall, so that there are many vacancies to be filled before the season opens.

New Coach Appointed Coach Harold Fisk will not be with the Redmen this year as he has been appointed manager of the M.A.A.A. club. According to an announcement from the Athletic Office yesterday, his place will be taken by Mr. Geo. Vickerson. Mr. Vickerson is an old McGill water polo player and should be able to whip the boys into shape for the opening of the schedule.

Practices will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5:30 p.m., in the Knights of Columbus tank. All the veterans who are back at college are asked to be out on Monday night and all newcomers will be given a trial.

Student Coupons

Students who have not paid their fees previous to October 1st, may obtain their coupon books by depositing at the Athletic Office—men $10, women $5. This will be refunded on presentation of receipt showing that the fees have been paid.

Freshmen Welcomed At Bishop's Rally

Harold Chard, Former McGill Man Coaches Lennoxville Rugby Team

(By Daily Correspondent)

Lennoxville — Another crop of enthusiastic freshmen at Bishop's University were introduced to various major and minor extra-curricular campus activities at the annual pep rally held last week. Pep rallies run in somewhat similar style at several Canadian Universities, for enlivening the proceedings at Bishop's were the cheering, free cigarettes, college songs and all the other head and heart warmers that are all too familiar a part of the more dignified (in name) Freshman Smokers at McGill.

John S. Aikens, President of the Student's Association opened the proceedings with a hearty welcome extended to all present at the meeting, and expressed the hope that with the co-operation of the entire student body this might be made one of the most successful years in the history of the University.

The various college sports were reviewed by the managers of the respective teams and bright prospects for the Rugby team which is being coached this year by Harold Chard who received his senior M from McGill last year, were seen by W. Hodgins manager of the team. The other college activities, namely

C.O.T.C. the Mitre, dramatics and rover crew were also reviewed very briefly. An announcement of considerable importance was made by the president of the debating society, C. Eberts, in which he stated that a team of English debaters would tour Canada next month and would meet Bishop's here on October 20.

Comment On Rise In Fees

Before the new schedule of fees was drawn up this summer an intensive survey was made by the authorities at McGill, of the costs of education at the leading universities in Canada and the United States. The principal conclusions drawn from the survey were that while students at McGill pay more than those at most other Canadian colleges, they pay much less than is charged at the leading universities in the United States and England.

In support of the above conclusions figures showed that at Harvard the fee in Arts was $400 per year, as against $105 at McGill. In Engineering, the fee at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the leading engineering institute in the United States, was $520, while that at McGill was only $225.

Quoting Sir Arthur Currie in a recent report, "There are people who contend that a student receiving the benefit of a university education should pay the full cost. If such a practice were, unhappily, followed, it would mean that none but the sons and daughters of the well-to-do would benefit."

But it is well known that among those who contribute most to the welfare and progress of our country are graduates who would have had no opportunity to make that contribution if governments and far-sighted individuals who provided scholarships, etc. I know of no university where students are called on to pay the full cost of their education, but I most freely admit that the amount paid by Canadian students should bear a fairer proportion to the cost."

General Principles

The principal stated that in drawing up the new fees for the different faculties, certain general principles had been followed as much as possible.

Students in science should pay a higher fee than students in Arts, because of the high cost of providing laboratory instruction. Again any practice by which students in Arts should be charged more than students in the professional schools is fundamentally opposed to sound university policy and not in the best interests of the professional schools themselves or of the community.

In line with these premises, Sir Arthur stated, "I have tried to keep them in mind in making my recommendations for the revised scale of fees. I am not prepared to say that this scale is exactly fair and adequate in all instances, but I believe we have done all we can safely do at this time."

Increase Not Too Steep

"It would be poor economy and poor university policy to increase our fees to the point where we prohibit students from other provinces coming here, for, as I have repeatedly said, it is the cream of the whole Canadian student body that we wish to attract. Neither do we wish to make the rates so high that our own Quebec students will be forced to the universities of adjoining provinces."

We must not lose sight of the fact that in some of our schools, such as Engineering, we could accept many more students without increasing the cost, and thus have more economical operation. Are we likely to get those students if we raise the fee too quickly to a much higher figure? If we are raising fees solely to increase our income, we must not overlook the possibility that by shutting out many who cannot afford the rates, a de-

Between 30 and 40 Doing Postgraduate Work in Continental Universities — McGill Gets Two Out of Three of 1851 Exhibition Scholarships

Between 30 and 40 McGill graduates will be doing postgraduate work abroad this year with the assistance of various scholarships. McGill has been fortunate this year in getting more of those scholarships which are open to students of all universities than usual.

Particularly notable in this respect is the fact that for the third year in succession McGill has got two out of the three 1851 Exhibition scholarships given to Canadian Universities for scientific research abroad. The recipients this year are J. F. Heard, Ph.D. and M. K. McPhail, Ph.D.

Among the prominent McGill students abroad this year are Ken Cameron, Munroe Bourne, Dave Lewis and Rudolph Duder at Oxford on Rhodes Scholarships and Robert Picard at the London School of Economics on an I.O.D.E. Scholarship. George Nicholls is studying Law at Dijon on the Macdonald Travelling Scholarship, while Kenneth Baker and Heinrich Heuser are at Paris with Guy Drummond Scholarships.

The complete list follows:
Rhodes Scholarships: Kenneth N. Cameron, B.A., Philosophy, at Oxford; J. B. Watson, B.A., Physics at Oxford; Munroe Bourne, B.A., Physiology, Oxford; David Lewis, B.A., Law, Oxford; Rudolph Duder, B.A., Oxford.

Quebec Government Scholarships: J. C. Merrett, B.Arch., Architecture in France; Eugene Jollat, B.A., French in France; J. Gordon Nelles, B.A., Economics; Donald Blair, B. Arch., Architecture; J. T. Henderson, Ph.D., Physics, London; Fred. Moseley, B.A., Medicine, London.

1851 Exhibitions: J. F. Heard, Ph.D., Physics, London; M. K. McPhail, Ph.D., Biochemistry, London; J. K. L. Macdonald, Physics, Cambridge; C. T. Lane, Ph.D., Physics, Munich, D. R. McRae, Ph.D., Physics, Cambridge. Hugh L. A. Tarr, M.S.A., Ph.D., Bacteriology, Cambridge.

External Research Studentship: Hugh L. A. Tarr, Emanuel College, Cambridge.

I.O.D.E. Scholarships: Robert I. C. Picard, M.A., Economics, London School of Economics; Harry Douglas Woods, M.A., Economics, London School of Economics.

Banting Fellowship: Helga Tait, B.Sc., Biochemistry, Toronto.
Moyse Travelling Scholarship: J. B. Rollet, B.A., Economics; David Tough, B.A., English and Philosophy.

Hugh MacLennan: Wilfrid R. Onions, B. Arch. Europe.
Macdonald Travelling: G. V. V. Nicholls, B.A. B.C.L. Law, Dijon.

McGill Delta Upsilon: F. A. Echlin, M.D., C.M., Surgical Pathology, John Hopkins.

crease rather than an increase may be the result."

Original Plan
It was originally proposed to make increased fees effective only to those entering college for the first time, but the final decision was that it should apply to all students, whether new or old. However to aid those students already at college who would find difficulty in meeting the new fees it was decided to add a sum of $10,000 to the student loan fund, open to those in their third and fourth year. Sir Arthur remarked, "There is no better investment than a loan to a good student. So judiciously has the Loan Fund in Engineering been administered that it now stands at a higher figure than when initiated. All other Loan Funds are intact, with the exception of the Khaki Fund where

Spending Of Leisure Time Is Modern Task

Depression Results In Back To Arts Movement

Cincinnati, (CP)—In good times, when big business went about seeking technicians and complained that colleges and universities turned out too few of them, technical courses became the "rage" in the institutions of higher learning throughout the land. Professors of English, Philosophy and the other arts who presumed to complain were laughed down. They had nothing more to do but act as voices crying in the wilderness.

Now, thinks Dr. Raymond Walters, former dean of Swarthmore College, this year beginning his first term as president of the University of Cincinnati, depression will start colleges again teaching students how to occupy their idle time, of which they will have plenty in the next few years.

Functions of University
"The first function of a university," he admits, "is to prepare students for the work of life. A second function of higher education is training for the leisure of life."

"Perhaps the greatest problem facing our economic system today and in the next quarter of a century is that of enforced leisure and unemployment. Our economic system is on trial, just as every preceding system was on trial. Its problems cannot be solved with a Pollyanna recipe that all things will work out well if simply given time. I would suggest for this problem of enforced idleness a definite program of intellectual work."

"Reading should be regarded as a game, and writing can be done if one feels like it. Many persons are turning to writing, and one authentic sign of a nation's becoming intellectual is a luxuriant crop of amateur writers."

on the squad. Frankton is reputed to have done the mile in 4:28, and he beat Goode, last year in the Dunlop Road Race. The advent of Melkilejohn, former University of Wisconsin discus thrower, and Jamieson, who has run three miles under the intercollegiate record, and was on the South African Inter-University All Star Track and Field team, will give McGill one of the strongest track squads in many summers. The Redmen will again be weak in sprints. Toronto having taken both last year.

Minor Sports

The harrier championship which resulted in a tie last season, should return to the metropolis if Frankton, Goode, and Company have anything to say in the matter. The basketballs will run through their schedule in the same manner as they did last year, as the championship aggregation is intact. The English Rugby title will also stay at McGill as the team which beat Varsity so one-sidedly last time is almost unchanged. Despite the loss of McTeer and McGilivray, stellar defencemen, the hockeyists will bring the puck crown back to Montreal, but will have a hard time in the Senior City League.

Varsity should win the rowing, as it has done in the past four encounters; the Torontonians should also retain the soccer title which they won last fall. The Herschorn Trophy, emblematic of supremacy in water polo should remain in the Queen City, as the Red team has been greatly weakened by the loss of Munroe Bourne and Phil Matthams. Bourne's departure may also result in the Blueboys gaining the Dougall Trophy for swimming which has been at McGill since 1929. The loss of deWolfe MacKay may prove disastrous in gymnastics, and Varsity should win its first gym title in five years. The Rutian Trophy for golf will probably be amongst the others of Toronto's 1932 conquests.

The tennis title will be between the University of Montreal and McGill, with the edge going to the former; last year, the Frenchmen took the singles and the Redmen captured the doubles, but the formers' line-up has on it some of the best tennis ability in the Dominion.

And last but not least comes the boxing, wrestling, and fencing. Queen's should keep the Gibson Memorial Cup, which they won at the last Assault-at-arms. The new Queen's gymnasium has put a new face on the matter, and the Tricolour will prove hard to beat.

The sum total of championships comes to McGill 6; Toronto 6;
